

NOVEMBER LISTS You'll find the familiar Dead List slips & envelopes at the back of church for your use.

REMEMBER, REMEMBER You will find the familiar British Legion red poppies for sale from the back of church.

NEXT WEEKEND We will be praying with particular regard for the War dead and deceased parishioners next (Remembrance) Sunday, 10th November. There will be DV, the familiar cemetery (2.30) and garden-of-remembrance (3.15pm) visits that afternoon.

Immaculate Conception mass-goers please note: In order to avoid multiple cenotaph-congestion, Mass starts earlier—at 9am— next Sunday.

BEST THANKS to those who organised, staffed and supported the coffee-morning at Bradbury House last Saturday. Almost unsurprisingly, on a wild, wet & windy morning £500 was raised for the parish kitty. ("Dear Chancellor: May I recommend a fund-raising team . . .")

PUBLICATIONS "Magnificat" have sent additional copies for November. Why not take a copy for a friend or family-member? On a home-visit during the week, parishioner Joe S told of a visiting parishioner who gave him the gift of a "Magnificat" copy. He was delighted and immediately arranged a subscription! "Proclaim it from the rooftops . . .!"

HELPFUL GUIDANCE After 11am Mass this Sunday the 3rd November at St Charles, is a session, led by Deacon Owen, for Extraordinary Ministers. It will be on best practice in leading services of Word & Holy Communion. Ministers from all three places of worship are invited.

GLOSSOP AND DISTRICT YOUTH CLUB next Friday 8th November, 6-30 to 8pm, in St Mary's church hall Glossop. Come and join us and bring your friends, Year 7 upwards. Please see poster for more info. All welcome!

St Charles Borromeo (1538 - 1584) was born in a castle on the shores of Lake Maggiore in northern Italy, to a noble family. He was destined for a career in the Church from an early age. He became a Doctor in civil and canon law at the University of Pavia. When his uncle was elected Pope he was summoned (aged 21 and not ordained) to Rome and made a cardinal and made administrator of the vacant diocese of Milan. He played a large part in the reforming Council of Trent. In late 1562 Charles's elder brother died, leaving him as head of the family. His relations wanted him to abandon his ecclesiastical career and marry, and even the Pope suggested it; but in 1563, he settled the argument by secretly being ordained priest. He was soon consecrated as Archbishop of Milan, but the Pope would not let him leave Rome because he was needed there. He worked on the catechism, the Missal and the Breviary, and reformed his own diocese as well as he could from a distance through trusted deputies. At length the Pope permitted Charles to take up residence in his diocese. He began reform from the top, giving much of his property to the poor. He instituted the familiar "box-confessional", set up the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine to teach children the faith. When famine struck the province, he fed 3,000 people at his own expense for three months and inspired others to do likewise. When plague came, he prepared himself for death, made his will, and went to the hospital where the worst cases were. After enormous amounts of nagging, preaching and persuasion the secular clergy at length followed his example. As might be expected, Charles encountered determined opposition to his programme of reform. The canons of one church slammed the door in his face to prevent him making a visitation and their servants fired at him, damaging the crucifix he was carrying. The members of a rich and corrupt order of monks were so opposed to being reformed that one of them dressed as a layman, joined Charles's household at evening prayer, and shot at him. Charles's final visitation was of the cantons of Switzerland in 1583, where he had to deal with senior priests who were practising witchcraft and sorcery. Worn out by his zeal for reform, Charles died on 3 November 1584 at the age of 46.
